

Goldwater Backing Nixon

Barry Goldwater urged his fellow Arkansians not to seek revenge against Michigan Gov. George Romney, who refused to back Goldwater's bid for the presidency in 1964.

But if that statement pleased Romney, an undeclared candidate for the Republican presidential nod next year, Goldwater's next utterance must have been slightly painful.

"I'm backing Dick Nixon," Goldwater suddenly declared Thursday at a gathering of Arizona Republicans before whom Romney spoke.

While Goldwater has said many times before that he favors former Vice President Richard M. Nixon as the party nominee, it was the first time he'd said it in Romney's presence and threw a new roadblock into the Michigan governor's efforts to woo Republican conservatives.

Romney's invasion of Goldwater country coincided with California Gov. Ronald Reagan's move into President Johnson's home territory of Texas and George Wallace's jaunt to the Far West.

Reagan, introduced at a GOP fund raising dinner in Dallas as "the man who may be the next president of the U.S.," declared that idea, "scars me to death."

He again said he is not seeking the job, but declined to discount his availability for a draft.

Texas Republicans in Dallas and Houston cheered Reagan's attack on the Johnson administration's fiscal policies and his recital of the economies he has put into effect as California's governor.

His appearances at $100-a-plate affairs in the two cities earned an estimated $160,000 for the Texas Republican party.

It was speculated the Californian's trip to Texas would start a Reagan-for-president boomlet there and Texas GOP Chairman Peter O'Donnell did nothing to squelch such talk.

Romney had his own ideas about Reagan's plans. Asked by newsmen if he thinks Reagan is running, Romney answered: "Yes—hard."

Wallace, former Alabama governor whose wife now occupies that post, gave further indications he'll wage a third party race against the Democratic and Republican nominees in 1968.

Wallace said neither Reagan nor Nixon, favored currently by GOP conservatives, fit his notion of what a conservative candidate should stand for. He long ago declared himself opposed to fellow Democrat Johnson.

"We will be ready if the Democrats and Republicans don't offer the man in the street a choice," Wallace said of his plans. "My purpose in coming west is to help set up the machinery for my candidacy if it becomes necessary to run."

He spoke in Reno, Nev., first stop in a 10-day tour that also will take him to Oregon, Washington and New Mexico.

In Washington, a group back-jug Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., for the presidential nomination planned an attempt today to call on National Chairman John M. Bailey.

Purpose of the visit, said co-chairman Dr. Martin Shepard of Citizens for Kennedy '68, will be to tell Bailey that renomination of Johnson would be disastrous for the party.

Merger of Catholics Is Sought

By DENNIS F. REDMONT

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI and Orthodox Patriarch Athenagoras met today in the Pope's study for their longest private talk yet on ways to bring their two churches back together after 900 years apart.

While the 70-year-old Pope and 81-year-old patriarch conferred in French without interpreters, their aides met separately at the Vatican Secretariat for Christian Unity.

The meeting of the Pope and patriarch was regarded as the most important since they began work to unite their churches.

In meetings in Jerusalem three years ago and in Turkey last July they spoke only briefly. Today's meeting was to last most of the morning.

In his speech at St. Peter's Basilica Thursday, the silver-bearded Athenagoras stressed that "a dialogue of charity" must precede "a dialogue of theologians."

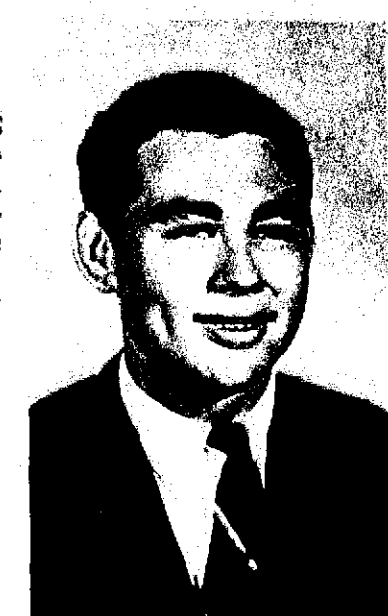

Pope Paul and his aides, on the other hand, have been anxious to move to specific issues which split the two churches into East and West in 1054, the major difference being over the primacy of the Pope.

Prelates from the Christian Unity Office, which handles the Vatican's relations with the Eastern Orthodox church, pointed out that the patriarch made a significant step toward recognizing the importance of Rome for both churches in Thursday's address.

Congress May Quit by Thanksgiving

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — With hopes high and fingers crossed, Congress is shooting for adjournment of its 1967 session before Thanksgiving Day.

Its leaders believe that with a little luck and no unforeseen snags they can hit that target date after this week's sudden break in the legislative logjam that has dragged the session through almost 10 months.

The big money bills, perennial sources of trouble, have started to move with a rush. Three more were sent to the President Thursday.

But wary leaders, accustomed to have their best-laid plans wrecked, were cautious in their adjournment predictions.

"Only fair," said House Democratic Leader Carl Albert, D-Okl., when asked what he thought of chances for adjournment by Thanksgiving.

"A good chance," said House GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said the Turkey Day get-away prospects were good, if there is to be no tax hike bill.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee, appeared to remove Mansfield's "if" by agreeing chances for the late-November adjournment looked good to him. Tax legislation originates in Mills' committee, which could hardly get a revenue measure ready for initial House action before late November.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen was less optimistic than the others. He felt mid-December was a more realistic target date.

The unofficial list of "must" bills for disposal this year has been narrowed. It now includes Social Security, foreign aid, anti-poverty and pay raise legislation, plus the remaining money bills. The list may be pared down further as the fever to quit spreads, with only the money measures absolutely demanding action.

None of the left-over bills would lose their advanced position if not acted on by adjournment time, since the present Congress meets again next January and picks up where it leaves off this year.

House-passed bills dealing with aid to education, civil rights and Social Security revision may be brushed aside until next year.

There was general agreement that the biggest stumbling block now in the path of adjournment is the anti-poverty program. The Senate has passed a bill to continue the program and the House plans to consider its own version the second week in November.

If the two products are so far apart that a quick compromise would be unlikely, the anti-poverty program may be kept alive by temporary spending authority at an annual rate of about $1.2 billion instead of the $2 billion requested by the President.

Mexico's President Visits U.S.

By FRANCES LEWINE
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz of Mexico addresses a joint session of Congress today in a highlight of a visit already marked by extraordinary expressions of goodwill between his nation and the United States.

From a 21-gun arrival salute on the White House South lawn to a presidential state dinner Thursday night, the red carpet was out for the first Mexican president to visit the United States in eight years.

President Johnson, raising his glass in a champagne toast, said: "May the peace and friendship which unites our nations be a symbol to others of how nations should conduct themselves."

The two presidents are celebrating the final ceremonial of the Chamizal Treaty through which the two nations peacefully settled a 105-year-old border dispute.

Before Diaz Ordaz entertains President and Mrs. Johnson tonight at a dinner in the Mexican Embassy, the two heads of state will witness formal signing of a treaty transferring the small strip of land known as El Chamizal—the thicket—from Texas to the Mexican state of Chihuahua.

El Chamizal was carved out of Mexico by a southward shift in the course of the Rio Grande River in 1852. Its restoration to Mexico ends negotiations begun in 1963 by President John F. Kennedy and Mexican President Adolfo Lopez Mateos.

Johnson and Diaz Ordaz are scheduled to take part Saturday in ceremonies at El Paso, Tex., commemorating the peaceful conclusion of the land dispute.

The Interagency Committee on Mexican-American Affairs opened a hearing Thursday in El Paso as a prelude to Saturday's ceremonies. The first day of hearings erupted into charges that those invited to testify were not representative of the Southwestern Mexican-Americans.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey is slated to address the hearing today, stopping off briefly en route to Southeast Asia where he'll spend eight days on a three-nation tour.

The formal White House dinner party for Diaz Ordaz and his wife, with 190 guests, was the biggest since early this year and had a celebrity-studded turnout, including Mexico's famous actor Cantinflas and American diplomatic, political and theatrical personalities, among them actress Merle Oberon who lives in Acapulco, Mexico.

Dirty Mail Crimped by Prosecution

By JOSEPH E. MORBAT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional clamor and a controversial Supreme Court ruling have put a big dent in the mail-order pornography business, the government's chief postal sleuth says.

Complaints about offensive mail have plunged 30 per cent, Chief Inspector Henry B. Montague said, since the Supreme Court ruled 19 months ago that lurid advertising may be weighed against the defendant in obscenity trials.

And 20 legislative proposals to combat pornography have sounded a further alarm to the commercial peddlers of smut.

"I think some of these dealers have had second thoughts since the Ginzburg case," Montague said in an interview. "They're awaiting further developments—but for now they've decided it might be wiser to keep their stuff out of the mail."

From 1962 to 1966, Montague said, complaints about offensive—if not legally obscene—mailings climbed from 52,000 to more than 197,000.

The Supreme Court, upholding the obscenity-by-mail conviction of publisher Ralph Ginzburg, ruled in March 1966 that advertising designed to titillate may be considered in deciding whether the advertised material itself is obscene.

In the following year, complaints to postmasters dropped nearly to 140,000. A California publisher of nudist magazines was convicted last February of sending obscene matter into Iowa. And complaints during the first three months of the current fiscal year are around 17,000—a 50 per cent drop from the corresponding period last year.

But if the postman is delivering less offensive material, someone apparently is circulating more. It's the opinion of Montague, a quiet, solemn man who seldom laughs, that "there's more hard-core pornography in circulation today even if it's not moving by mail. The ads are in girls' magazines instead of mailboxes. The magazines usually move by truck."

Montague and other federal officials define hard-core pornography as that depicting actual sexual relations or perversions. Virtually all of the hard-core material is pictorial, since the courts have all but eliminated the possibility of obscenity findings for printed matter.

Montague believes congressional pressure also has had a dampening effect on would-be mailers of sex-oriented advertising. Congress is considering a number of bills that would protect postal patrons from offensive mailings.

And President Johnson has signed into law a bill empowering him to create an 18-member commission to report by January 1970 on a strategy against pornography. The commission won't be named for at least several weeks.

The trend in commercialized mail order activity below the level of "hard-core" pornography, Montague said, is away from photos and film toward books, magazines and pamphlets.

Most of the mailings about which postal patrons complain are not legally obscene, Montague said. Many involve ads for sex-aid devices, couched in pseudo-medical terms. Some are thinly veiled invitations to join "correspondence clubs," lending a lurid new meaning, in the postal inspection business, to the friendly old term "pen-pal."

As for erotica and pornography entering the United States from outside, a Customs Bureau official said there has been no great change in the volume of material confiscated by inspectors.

Coed's Plea Ignored, Is Sent to Jail

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Virginia Wilson pleaded with the judge to let her go before other college students and speak on the evils of using marijuana. The judge said no.

Miss Wilson, 23, a coed at the University of California at Santa Barbara, was arrested June 9 and convicted Sept. 8 of a charge of possessing marijuana.

In a letter to Superior Court Judge C. Douglas Smith she said if a jail sentence were waived she would speak at dormitories, fraternity and sorority houses and elsewhere on campuses.

"I can give first-hand knowledge of the effect a felony conviction has emotionally and physically on a person," she wrote.

Judge Smith, rejecting the plea, sentenced her to 90 days in county jail and five years probation. Imposing the sentence, Smith said, was a "duty to serve notice on the students that the use of marijuana is serious and not frivolous."

Sobbing, the coed was led to jail Thursday, but was freed several hours later after her attorney obtained a stay of execution of sentence pending appeal.

WR Wraps Speech of Appointee

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller mildly Tucker Prison Supt. Thomas O. Murton Thursday for remarks which Rockefeller said wouldn't help solve problems in the Arkansas penal system.

Murton, the man the governor picked to head Tucker, said at Hot Springs Wednesday that Supt. O. E. Bishop had made significant changes at Cummins but that they were "more superficial than real."

Rockefeller said that Murton had his assignment at Tucker and was "doing an exceptionally fine job," but added, "I had been in his shoes, I wouldn't have got involved in Cummins."

"I do not know that a comment such as he made is going to help the problems of the state Prison Study Commission," the governor said.

Rockefeller also said he is "heartily in support" of a shake-down of trusty barracks at Cummins that was proposed by the commission. He said, however, he would not move into the situation at this time because "for the governor's office to be in a position of either interpreting or attempting to direct adds more to the problems."

On another matter, Rockefeller said he doubted that there was any conflict of interest surrounding the position of Edwin

Negro Mayor Candidate Asks Help

GARY, Ind. (AP) — Mayor A. Martin Katz and Richard C. Hatcher, the Negro attorney who beat Katz in the Democratic primary, are seeking outside help to keep peace in the Nov. 7 municipal election.

Nominee Hatcher asked federal intervention Thursday for "this terribly desperate situation." Hatcher, who lacks the backing of Lake County Democratic Chairman John Krupa, told a news conference, "I'm going to be cheated out of victory."

Hatcher said certain prominent election officials are engaged in "massive fraudulent registrations in white areas in order to steal the election."

Katz met with Gov. Roger D. Branigan, also a Democrat, in Indianapolis, but both declined to say what plans were made for Nov. 7.

Hatcher said election officials are disenfranchising thousands of Negroes who are registered and qualified. He said the scheme involves about 200 persons.

The nominee said the FBI has interviewed some of the 5,000 persons ordered purged from city voting rolls. An official for the FBI in Indianapolis said it had no comment.

Gary's 178,000 population is about 55 per cent Negro.

Gets 'Life' for Rape of Negro Girl

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Jerry F. Denham, 25, of Little Rock who is white, was sentenced to life imprisonment Thursday after he pleaded guilty in Circuit Court here to charges of raping a 12-year-old Negro girl.

The state waived the death penalty when the defense agreed to enter a plea of guilty to the alleged assault June 24 in the Marche community northwest of North Little Rock.

Both Hilton and State Police Sgt. Carroll Page said that Blair had given them conflicting stories about the girl's disappearance and death.

Prosecutor Joe Hardegger said he would present two more state witnesses today and said he believed the case would go to the jury by noon.

NEW YORK (AP) — Don Knotts, who plays slight, nervous little men better than almost anyone else, left the Andy Griffith show three seasons ago to pursue his own career. But Don's retirement as Barney Fife, deputy sheriff of Mayberry, has been tentative.

Two seasons ago he returned to the series for a couple of guest shots—playing Barney—and walked away with an Emmy for his performance.

Thursday night he was back with Andy again—this time in a special variety show called "The Don Knotts Show." He was not called Barney in this, but the character was the same and so was his relationship to Andy Griffith in the sketches.

The best portions of the show were the dance and song numbers starring guest star Juliet Prowse, Tony Charmoli's dance numbers and the sets and costumes were most decorative.

All in all, it ranks merely as a special program in this season of special specials, very special specials and extra special specials.

The producer of ABC's "Good Company," David Susskind reportedly wanted more controversy in the series than it has been having, and they got it last night from a master.

Jack Paar, obviously, has lost none of his taste and talent for a good fight in the months he has been away from network television and living the good rural life in northern Maine.

As the subject of the Thursday night show, Paar, obviously stung, went to work on Ed Sullivan, who had been quoted recently in a news magazine with an uncompromising remark about Paar. But where Paar in the old days might have operated with a rapier-like wit, he went after Sullivan using his tongue like a sledgehammer. Paar's feuding like dancing, requires plenty of practice.

Paar was egged on by host Lee Bailey who seemed downright uncomfortable in the role of goad. He devoted most of the program to attacking Sullivan—but was in fact much more interesting when he was describing the operation of his broadcasting station, WMW-TV, with its antennae atop Mount Whitney where, in cold weather, the maintenance crew lives in enforced isolation for a week or more at a time.

A—You are taking a combination of nystatin and a tetracycline. For most Staphylococcus infections penicillin is the antibiotic of choice unless you are allergic to it. If Terrastatin doesn't help, some other antibiotic should be tried. Unfortunately, some Staphylococcus strains develop a resistance to one or more antibiotics.

DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Best Medical Treatment: Open and Drain Abscess

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—How are Staphylococcus and Streptococcus infections transmitted? What causes blood poisoning? Is there such a thing as Staphylococcus pneumonia?

A—Staphylococci are parasitic germs that may be found on the skin and mucous membranes, especially of the nose and mouth, of normal persons. When a break sometimes so small that it is unnoticed, occurs in the skin or mucous membranes, these germs invade the tissues and produce pain, swelling, redness and thick yellow pus.

There are many different strains of streptococci only a few of which cause diseases (rheumatic fever, strep, sore throat and erysipelas). These germs may be spread by carriers who are usually persons who have recently had an acute Streptococcus infection. These diseases may also be transmitted through unpasteurized milk.

Both organisms may cause blood poisoning (invasion of the blood stream) and they may sometimes cause pneumonia.

Q—I have had cellulitis in my left leg for five months. It is still very painful. I have been using Epsom salt poultices and a spray on it. What causes this condition? What is the best treatment?

A—Cellulitis is a diffuse infection in the tissues just beneath the skin. It may be caused by various germs but most commonly by the Staphylococcus or Streptococcus. For cellulitis caused by these organisms, hot compresses with or without Epsom salts

Rubber bridge players tend to discount overtricks. After all, when you get 500 or 700 points for a rubber and 500 to 1500 for slams—what are a mere 20 or 30 points.

Duplicate players learn to appreciate small things. One overtrick may mean the difference between a top score and an average, two overtricks between a top score and a bottom.

We have also found that attention to overtricks pays off another way. By going after everything that isn't nailed down, you make a lot of contracts that you would not make normally.

South was very happy when he saw the dummy. Six clubs was going to wheel in, and the only fly in his ointment was that the contract appeared to be a very normal one. Therefore South decided to try for one overtrick. He didn't think much of his chances, but he had nothing to lose.

He decided that he could afford to take some slight chance with his contract. He drew only two rounds of trumps. Then he cashed his king of diamonds and entered dummy with a third trump.

His next play was a low heart from dummy. East decided to try to beat the slam and ducked, whereupon South proceeded to make his overtrick.

We don't think much of East's play. One look at dummy should have told East that he had better grab his ace of hearts whenever he could, but we do admire South's technique.

The key play came when he cashed his king of diamonds early. He wanted East to know that West did not hold that card, and he also wanted to plant the idea in East's mind that the contract was a doubtful one. Of course the play shouldn't have worked but it did.

What is the best treatment for an abscess?

ANSWER TOMORROW

Bob Thomas at the Movies

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Ever hear of such film companies as Premiere, Claridge, Royal, Lo-pert, International Classics and Regional Film Distributors? Probably not. Yet such firms have released many important movies.

These companies are subsidiaries of the major film corporations, and their purpose is to release movies that are considered too "special" for general distribution. In many cases that means too censored.

Some industry observers fear that subsidiaries will be used to make a mockery of the self-censorship code. The National Catholic Office for Motion Pictures has decried having such companies release films that cannot qualify for a code seal. But the practice seems well accepted in the industry.

The most notable case was Michaelangelo Antonioni's "Blowup." MGM had sponsored the film, then discovered it could not get a code seal, largely because of a nude romp of David Hemmings and two teen-agers. So MGM activated a subsidiary called Premiere Films to release the film.

"We did so because we thought the code office was wrong in this case," explained Clark Ramsay, new studio boss at MGM. "Our contract with Antonioni gave us the right to make certain cuts as ordered by the code; but we didn't feel they were warranted."

Ramsay added that there are no plans to use Premiere for future films. The release didn't hurt "Blowup," which has been a spectacular success at the box office.

United Artists has for several years used its Lopert subsidiary for films like "Never on Sunday" and "Tom Jones," which might have encountered censorship problems—both films are now considered so mild that they can be shown on television. "The primary purpose of Lopert," explains Herb Jaffe, West Coast vice president of United Artists, "is to distribute foreign-language features and other films that do not appear to be mass entertainment. They require special handling on the art-house circuit, though some turn out to be popular with a wide audience and then are taken over by United Artists."

The Motion Picture Association, police of movie morals, has taken no stand on the subsidiaries. "They are not members of the association, so we have no control," says a spokesman.

But of course the parent companies comprise the association and they are not likely to act against themselves. That's why the subsidiaries will continue to be a back door to the nation's theaters for films that may not qualify for the usual entrance.

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!

This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help Us, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush off.

Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED FOR IT, care of Helen Help Us! in this newspaper.

THOSE SPANKING HUSBANDS AGAIN

Dear Helen: My husband spanks me often. He always precedes it with a big, loving kiss, and says, "This will hurt me worse than it does you." Then he whistles the daylights out of me. It's my opinion it hurts ME the most, and I should know! We always have a nice period of making up afterwards, but why does he proclaim his love, then wallop me?

He won't spank our children. He insists that I do, while he watches, is this "Chain of discipline" or something, with spankings handed down from him to me to the kids? MRS. M.

Dear Mrs. M.: I'd say "discipline has little to do with it. These spankings are your husband's little diversion: If you continue with them, you're as warped as he is and Heaven Help your kids? H.

Dear Helen: We laughed and sighed over pills, pampered playboys, petting problems and perverted personalities, but your answer to the topless husband was too big to buy.

I pull off my shirt when I come home. My wife sees me as a man. My wife collects antiques and wears slacks. I see her as a woman. If I can take her female ways, she can stand seeing the hair on my chest, and that's the way it is at our house. Got any thing to say about it? PAUL

Dear Paul: If your wife is happy, and you are happy, that makes three of us. H.

PERSONAL TO "ASTONISHED AND ASHAMED": A "female cross-country hitch hiker" who registers "shock" at propositions is either naive or writing fiction. I'd suspect the latter, for if all your luggage was stolen, as you say, how then could that wild story be concocted in a "fleabag motel room." ON A TYPE-WRITER? H.

Dear Helen: Much has been written about the domination of the American wife. It's so insidious that most don't realize it's a takeover, until she's standing on his neck. He's too busy making a living. Then he wakes up and realizes they are driving the kind of car

SHE wants, raising the children HER way; taking HER choice of vacation; letting HER choose his clothes; and he can't remember the last time she made a concession to his point of view. For her, it's all "I," even though she says "We." And somehow he's so tired he just buckles under.

But there's one bright spot. People on the outside are quick to detect signs of domination by a mate. As a result they shower their affection upon the dominated one and tolerate the "Bossy" partner.

If a man can't get 60-40 thing going for him at home, at least he'll win out over his wife when it comes to making and keeping friends.

Here's a suggestion to married women: If mutual friends seem to prefer your husband to you, take stock of yourselves. Maybe you are not aware of how bossy you've become. ANOTHER DOMINATED HUSBAND

Dear Helen: Our daughter is out of school four years, well educated and capable, yet she never holds a job longer than two months. There's always something wrong, so she quits. Your advice? CONFUSED PARENTS.

Dear Parents: Withdraw support and perhaps she won't be so choosy. H.

Short Hair Is Flattering

Short hair is extremely flattering to a variety of face shapes from perfect oval to square. It has the added appeal of minimal upkeep, a fact especially appreciated during the outdoor season. After shampooing and partial drying, comb your hair into place. Then, a series of ringlets should be formed. Bangs and hair at the nape of the neck can then be held in place by using first-aid tape. Once hair is taped and curled, a light application of hair spray should follow. If you use a hair dryer—the finished style can be combed out in less than a half-hour.

SHERIFF'S PROCLAMATION OF SPECIAL ELECTION
State Of Arkansas, County Of Hempstead, ss.
I, Jimmie Griffin, Sheriff of Hempstead County, Arkansas, pursuant to the authority vested in me by law, and Ordinance No. 839 of the Ordinances of the City of Hope, Arkansas, hereby proclaim that a special election will be held in the City of Hope, Arkansas, at the usual polling places within said City, during the hours for holding legal elections, on the 7th day of November, 1967.

The question to be voted upon at said special election is whether or not the City of Hope, Arkansas, shall issue bonds for the purpose of purchasing rights-of-way for construction of public streets and boulevards and the construction of, widening, straightening, paving, and otherwise improving streets and boulevards within the corporate limits of the City of Hope, as follows: general obligation bonds under the provisions of Amendment No. 13 to the Constitution of the State of Arkansas to the extent of $539,000.00, motor vehicle tax bonds under the provisions of Act 446 of the Acts of 1965, as amended, to the extent of $120,000.00, and parking meter revenue bonds under the provisions of Act 269 of the Acts of 1951, as amended, to the extent of $97,000.00, the said bonds to bear interest at such rate or rates as the Board of Directors may determine, payable semiannually, but convertible at the option of the purchaser, subject to the approval of the City, into bonds bearing a lower rate or rates of interest in accordance with the Universal Bond Values Tables and on such terms that the City shall receive therefor and pay thereon substantially the same amount of money as if the said bonds were not converted. The bonds shall be callable on such terms as the City may specify in the notice of sale of the bonds.

The general obligation bonds shall mature as follows:
$8,000 in each of the years 1971 and 1972;

$14,000 in the year 1980;
$15,000 in the year 1981;
$16,000 in the year 1982;
$17,000 in the year 1983;

$19,000 in the year 1985;
$20,000 in the year 1986;
$31,000 in the year 1987; and
$300,000 in the year 1988.

The said general obligation bonds shall be payable on January 15 in each of said years and shall be dated January 15, 1968. The said bonds may be made subject to call for redemption before maturity at the option of the City on such terms as the City may specify in the notice of sale.

If the vote is favorable to one or more issues, they may be combined into one or more issues.

Only the qualified electors of the City of Hope, Arkansas, will have a right to vote on the question. The results of the special election shall be proclaimed as required by law, and due publication of the results given. LEGAL NOTICE

ORDINANCE NO. 841

An Ordinance To Be Entitled: "An Ordinance To Close And Vacate A Certain 16 Foot Alley Running Through The North Half (N/2) Of Block Seventeen (17) To The City Of Hope, Arkansas; And For Other Purposes."

WHEREAS, a petition was duly filed with the City Board of Directors of the City of Hope, Arkansas, on the 21st day of August, 1967, asking the City of Hope to vacate and abandon a certain 16 foot alley running through the North Half (N/2) of Block Seventeen (17) to the City of Hope, Arkansas, according to the plat now appearing of record in Miscellaneous Record Book 3, Page 126, in the office of the recorder within and for Hempstead County, Arkansas, said plat having been filed of record May 21, 1954; and

WHEREAS, after due notices as required by law, the Board of Directors has at the time and place mentioned in the notice, heard all persons desiring to be heard on the question and has ascertained that the alley hereinafter described has heretofore been dedicated to the public use as an alley but has not actually been used by the public generally at any time since the filing of said plat on May 21, 1954; that the petitioners, W. H. Gunter, Jr., and wife, and Bill W. Gunter, and wife, are the owners of the property abutting upon all that portion of the alley to be closed and vacated and they have requested that the same be closed; that the closing of said alley has been approved by the City Planning Commission; and that the public interest and welfare will not be adversely affected by the abandonment of such alley; that no person or persons have appeared to object or oppose the closing of said alley.

Now, Therefore, Be it ordained by the City Board of Directors of the City of Hope, Arkansas:

Draft Age in Vietnam Is Cut to 18

SAIGON (AP) — Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu lowered South Vietnam's minimum draft age from 21 to 18 and ordered deferments from the military service tightened in a decree of "partial mobilization" made public today.

The maximum draft age of 34 was retained. The decree, which will go into effect Jan. 1, also made technicians 34 to 45 years old subject to the draft. Deferments for education, religious reasons, foreign travel, profession and civil service will be tightened, the decree said.

Deferments for reasons of health and for service in the police force or in rural cadres will continue as before. The partial mobilization will also affect veterans of previous service who are still within the draft age. After the decree goes into effect, draftees will be called up by age groups until the requirements are met. The government has announced that 60,000 men are to be put into uniform

Nixon Says Vietnam, If Lost, Fatal

LACONIA, N.H. (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon says if Russia and Communist China "succeed in Vietnam, they will try it again and the risk the next time will be infinitely greater."

There is a need to strengthen non-Communist nations "so Communist China will see it is not in their interest to expand, not in their interest to export revolutions," Nixon added here Wednesday night.

He said that his talk to more than 800 persons jammed in a motel dining room for the annual Greater Laconia-Weirs Beach Chamber of Commerce meeting was "nonpolitical."

Nixon said the war in Vietnam is being fought "for a more peaceful world...to win the peace in the Pacific." He added that it must be recognized that the reason the "world has not had a major war" in more than 20 years is that America has gained an overwhelming military superiority.

He said the United States "holds the key to peace and freedom" for the remainder of this century and expressed confidence that Americans will have the courage and vision to "lead the world to a new era of peace, progress and justice."

New Plan Seeks Peace in Mideast

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — A drafting team of the U.N. Security Council was reported near agreement today on a plan aimed at opening the way to a permanent settlement of the Arab-Israeli conflict.

The Indian plan, favored by the Soviet bloc and the Arabs, would give the U.N. representative specific instructions to call for withdrawal of Israeli troops from land they seized from Egypt, Jordan and Syria in the June war.

The Danish draft, supported by the United States and Israel, would merely give general instructions to the representative.

Minnesota Fans Scarce for Pro B.B.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Minnesota was cold. So were the Muskies. And the fans don't seem to have warmed up to the idea of a new professional team either.

Only 807 customers turned out Thursday night as the temperature was in the 30s and Anaheim beat Minnesota 115-99 in an American Basketball Association contest.

The Amigos turned a 26-24 first-quarter lead into a 61-45 halftime budge and coasted home from there.

In other ABA games Thursday night, New Jersey edged Kentucky 134-131 at Louisville before 3,985 fans and Oakland downed Indiana 118-114 on the West Coast before a crowd of 2,986. No games were scheduled in the National Basketball Association.

Steve Chubin led Anaheim with 24 points and Jeff Congdon added 20. Mel Daniels of the Muskies led all the scorers with 26 points. It was Anaheim's first victory after five straight defeats. Minnesota is now 1-3.

Art Heyman sparked New Jersey to its victory with five points in the last two minutes. His three-point basket with 1:59 left gave the Americans a one-point edge and a minute later he scored again. The former Duke star finished with 30 points. Jim Ligon led Kentucky with 29 points.

Oakland rallied in the final quarter and handed Indiana its first setback of the season. The Oaks lead the Western Division with a 3-1 record while the Pacers pace the West at 5-1.

Andy Anderson topped Oakland with 30 points and Roger Brown was high for Indiana with 26.

Oklahoman Wins Ft. Smith Tourney

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Larry Fryer of Oklahoma City won the South Central Sectional PGA tournament here Thursday with a 54-total of 216.

Fryer had rounds of 72-69-75 to win $700 for his overall even par score.

George McKeown of Pine Bluff and Ernie Vossler of Oklahoma City, the defending champion, tied for second one shot back of Fryer to win $450. McKeown had 74-72-71 and Vossler had 78-68-71.

Closing of Rail Depot Is Refused

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Commerce Commission refused Wednesday to permit the Cotton Belt route to close its station at Caraway (Craighead County).

The commission said it had found that the company was making a profit from the operation, and that company officials had failed to prove at a hearing May 24 that closing the station would result in a savings. Caraway population 1,025, is 15 miles from Trumann and 13 miles from Leachville, the nearest stops on the line. One man operates the depot and station, which has six-day-a-week freight service.

The commission said that if the station were closed, shippers at Caraway would have to call the agent at either Trumann or Leachville collect to have a bill of lading prepared, offsetting any savings that might be gained by closing the station.

Hog Safety Man Doing Very Well

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Any mistake by a safety man can result in a touchdown for the opposition and it's an even more difficult for a sophomore to be mistake-free.

But, Terry Stewart, a sophomore redshirt from Fort Smith Northside has started five straight games at safety for the Arkansas Razorbacks.

"He hasn't had any real bad plays," said Hootie Ingram, defensive secondary coach. "He made one mistake that was kind of bad against Baylor but they didn't capitalize on it so you can't say anything about it."

"He's made fewer mistakes playing the first five games than any sophomore I've ever seen," Ingram said.

Stewart didn't do anything spectacular during the first four games but against Texas last week:

He intercepted two passes, recovered a fumble, returned a punt 31 yards to set up the first Arkansas touchdown, made four unassisted tackles and three assists.

"The first couple of games it just worked out that the safety man didn't have to do a lot," Ingram. "The safety man has to check the defense and some can't adjust to doing that and playing safety at the same time."

"We could see last spring he was a very capable boy," said Ingram. "He has an air of confidence but it's not the usual type. He's very softspoken."

The six-foot, 182-pound Stewart has a 3.64 cumulative grade point majoring in chemical engineering and carries 17 hours, even during the football season.

"Ninety per cent of the time good grades and a good football head go hand in hand," Ingram said.

Stewart made an open-field tackle of Texas tailback Chris Gilbert that saved an apparent touchdown after Gilbert had taken a pass in the right flat.

"He's a real fine tackler," said Ingram. "He's a sure tackler. He's the safety on the kickoff team."

Ingram figures Stewart and defensive halfbacks Tommy Trantham and Gary Adams will see more passes during the last five games than they did during the other five.

"Usually, it's the other way around," Ingram said. "But, A&M and SMU have been throwing a lot and Rice lost its best runner so they'll probably be throwing more, too."

At the present, Ingram's worry is Kansas State's Bill Nossek—a backup quarterback who is a good scrambler as well.

Women Pros Tee Off at San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A field of 47, led by the big names in women's pro golf, tee off here today in the first round of the $12,500 Alamo Open.

Kathy Whitworth, the top-ranked player on the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour this year, is the favorite. But Mickey Wright, the winningest woman pro ever to pick up a putter, is expected to furnish a serious challenge.

Miss Whitworth has won seven tournaments this year and leads in earnings with $28,392. She is a two-time winner of the seven-year-old Alamo Open, but never has won on the 6,662-yard Olmos Basin Municipal Course being used this year.

Sandra Haynie, the Fort Worth pro who is second in money-earnings for the year, is here to defend her championship. She won last year with the second lowest score — a 213 — ever posted in this tournament.

Patterson vs. Quarry Saturday

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Floyd Patterson has fought and won a single afternoon bout yet it remains to be seen whether this provides a speck of advantage when he fights Jerry Quarry on Saturday in the World Boxing Association's heavyweight championship tournament.

The ex-champion from New York, declaring he's as hungry for the title as his younger foe, opened as the wagering choice when training started but it could be even-up when they climb into the Olympic Auditorium ring for their 3 p.m. bout slated for 12 rounds.

Patterson's afternoon outing came in Sweden when he stopped Eddie Machen while Quarry has compiled his 24-1-4 record in fights starting at more usual evening times.

"I boxed 95 rounds preparing for this fight and most of the work has started at 2 p.m.," says the 22-year-old Quarry of nearby Bellflower who has no previous experience with afternoon fistclutts.

A television commitment set the hour of the 12-round rematch between Patterson, who twice has held the championship, and the aspiring Californian.

They battled to a 10-round draw the first time they met in a bristling battle which saw Patterson down twice and Quarry once.

The meeting brings the fourth and final result in the first set of eliminations with Thad Spencer, Jimmy Ellis and Oscar Bonavena already victorious in their initial scrap.

We Have Better Luck on 2nd Trip to War Eagle

Your editor went to the War Eagle Ozarks handcraft fair a year ago and blanked out with his color shots, misjudging the electronic flash in the very dark exhibit tents. But this month he revisited War Eagle—and hit 100 per cent.

The 4x5 Ektachrome transparencies were returned from the Dallas processor in last night's mail, and we had 13 good ones out of 13. Twelve were of exhibits at the fair—but the 13th was the prize one, a shot of the famed Buffalo river taken as L. Carter Johnson and I were on the road home last week-end.

If you've been up State Highway 7 to Harrison—and many Hope people have—you know the scene. It is observed from the bridge on which Highway 7 crosses the Buffalo just north of Jasper. You are looking westward, and the 4 o'clock sun brings out the full splendor of rugged Ozark cliffs, blue water, and Autumn foliage.

That picture is going to try to make a liar out of my report that this year's Ozark Autumn foliage is worth seeing but not photographing. Nevertheless I stand on the report. The Buffalo picture is the sole exception to what Johnson and I saw on a 727-mile swing through north Arkansas and south Missouri.

You'll be seeing some of these pictures in process color in The Star when we get our trouble-some refrigeration system adjusted in the photo darkrooms. One of our brand new cold-water machines had to be replaced on manufacturer's warranty, and then it had to be replaced with another brand to get the exact temperature regulation required in preparing separation negatives for press plates.

No-Bill Is Grand Jury Report

BENTON, Ark. (AP) — The Saline County Grand Jury concluded Thursday that Benton's municipal government has internal problems that the city administration can resolve and said in its report that it found no reason to issue any indictments.

Circuit Judge Henry Means of Malvern ordered the investigation at the request of the Benton City Council after a stakeup in the city's police department.

Police Sgt. John Cook was fired by Police Chief Jim McClintock after Cook and two other officers seized an estimated $50,000 worth of gambling equipment from a trailer van parked here Sept. 23.

The jury said it found no evidence "showing any connection between the police department and any criminal interest," but said it did find evidence of internal problems in the police department.

The jury said the city administration should resolve the problem and recommended better cooperation between enforcement agencies in the Benton area and an independent audit of the city government be conducted annually.

Daylight Saving Ends Sunday

By F. RICHARD CICCONE

Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Most of the states are keeping in time with each other this year, but some are threatening to change step as soon as possible and Kentucky keeps doing what comes naturally.

Sunday at 2 a.m. marks another semiannual session of the great American midcentury game: changing the clock.

The latest ritual—turn the clock back one hour Sunday—is the first mandatory time switch under the Uniform Time Act passed in 1966 by Congress.

No one complains about changing back to standard time. It's that 60 minutes of extra morning darkness and evening light called Daylight Saving Time that prompts it.

The time act provided that all clocks in any one state must always have the same time and, from the last Sunday in April to the last Sunday in October, that time would be Daylight Saving.

The new law tossed into one crucible all the controversial arguments that DST had caused since its inauguration in 1918. The federal law said that state legislatures could apply for exemption.

Alaska and Hawaii were exempted. Ohio and Virginia partially observed the new law and 46 states complied in fact if not in spirit.

For millions of persons, changing the clock implies one hour less sleep in the spring and one hour more this Sunday. Millions of others, however, regard clock changing as the war cry to rally legislators and lobbyists against DST.

The latter group consists of farmers with their argument that "chickens don't read clocks," outdoor theater owners who condemn the late sunsets of DST as a blight on their livelihood and anxious mothers who must send their children to school during October's dark mornings.

Passage of the law was applauded by television networks concerned with keeping everyone in time with New York and Los Angeles, originating points of prime-time TV shows.

It was warmly welcomed by traveling salesmen who were often forced to eat three lunches in Ohio and Virginia where local-option rules caused a crazy-quilt of time zones which changed at each crossroads.

A bill was introduced in the Ohio legislature to place the state on Standard Time permanently, but the newly apportioned legislature defeated it despite cries of protests from rural representatives. Virginia made a stab at creating some sort of conformity in 1964 by putting the state on DST from Memorial Day to Labor Day.

The law didn't apply to Alexandria or other suburbs of Washington, which kept time by the White House clock.

The states having bonafide complaints against the law were those divided by two time zones. It was common practice in such states to let the eastern part remain on Standard Time all year and allow the western section to adopt DST to give the state a uniform summer time.

States in this category were Indiana, Idaho, Nevada, Nebraska, Florida, Texas, Michigan, Kentucky, North and South Dakota and Tennessee.

Michigan, burdened by its westward-reaching Upper Peninsula, has a particular problem. Upper Michigan will be turning its clocks back to Central Standard Time and the lower section of the state to Eastern Standard.

The Michigan legislature exempted the state from the federal law. But the state's residents gathered enough petitions to force a referendum on the issue, thereby nullifying the legislature's act. Voters will have their final say when the conflict is placed on the November 1968 ballot.

Tennessee went along with DST this year and is happily changing the clock to Standard Time Sunday.

Georgia couldn't make up its mind about DST in April so it went along with its neighbors,

Controversy Over Daylight Saving Is as Sharp as Ever

By TOMMY YATES

Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Daylight Saving Time started its six-month trial in Arkansas on a controversial note and it seems destined to end on the same tune.

As the state nears the hour when it will return to standard time, the opinions on DST remain basically the same and very few have switched sides.

The system of moving the clock ahead an hour so residents could stretch their daylight started off with the general approval of the "Main Street boys" and the disapproval of some farmers and businessmen.

Arkansas went on DST the last Sunday in April and it will end at 2 a.m. Sunday, when residents will move their clocks back an hour and "regain" the hour that was lost.

One opinion that seems widespread across the state is that saving time wouldn't be so bad if it just didn't last so long.

Most of those who suggested shortening the period of DST favored a three-month period of June, July and August instead of the May through October period.

Rep. L. L. (Doc) Bryan of Pope County, who opposed DST in the 1967 legislature, half-way changed his mind, although he said, "More people are saying they're with me now."

However, he added, "It would be all right if you could just have it in June, July and August."

Mayor Joe C. Crowder of McGehee is another who agreed that DST should be shortened to include the vacation months of June, July and August. Mayor John C. Hammock of Dermott said he had no strong feelings either way, but said he would like DST if it were modified to end with Labor Day.

Mayor L. L. Pesses of El Dorado said he was "very pleased" with saving time, but he too said it should end sooner. Earl Griffith, a grocery store manager at Russellville, said he liked the extra hour of daylight after work. "As a businessman it doesn't make any difference," he said.

Drive-in theater operators expressed the strongest opinions against DST, which was expected since the entertainment industry urged the last legislature to keep Arkansas on standard time.

Gordon Hutchins of Russellville was asked if DST affected his drive-in audience adversely. "Of course it did," he replied.

Joe H. Brown, manager of Conway Theater and a drive-in, said that DST "hurt the drive-in considerably and definitely has affected the theater."

He said that with daylight being longer, people who usually go to the theater decide to go fishing, boating or do something else.

Reed Eike, a Union County sheriff's deputy and farmer, said he hates saving time and wished it were already changed.

back. "DST has worked out pretty good for us," said Lloyd T. Westbrook, Faulkner County Extension agent. "Most farmers work from daylight to dark anyway, so they just go ahead and work as usual."

Westbrook said that as far as the extension schedule was concerned the only disadvantage was that it was difficult to have night meetings.

A dairy farmer at Harrison expressed a different version.

He said it wasn't just the problem of waking cows on time, but the late-rising sun under DST delayed work in the fields.

"The hay doesn't cure out early—the dew is still on it until maybe 11 a.m. and my helpers want to quit at 5 p.m.," he said. So, he said he worked "by the old time" all summer, except that he stopped work for lunch at 1 p.m. instead of at noon.

James B. Abbot, project manager for Hardaway & Finley, contractors for Lock and Dam No. 8 on the Arkansas River, said DST had been a big help.

"It gave us more daylight hours in which to work, which allowed us to do more," he said. "Also, working is safer because we don't have to do as much work after it has reached twilight."

In general, it seems, people who want to go fishing, boating, work in the garden or participate in other outdoor activities like saving time. Others don't particularly care except that the early-to-bed, early-to-rise people say their schedules get thrown off.

4 Russian Warships Reach Suez

PORT SAID, Egypt (AP) — Four Soviet warships arrived today to the tumultuous cheers of Port Said residents and dock workers.

The warships included two big vessels, a frigate and an auxiliary supply vessel. The Cairo press said the visit was a courtesy call on Port Said, but the fact the ships came in the wake of the sinking of the Israeli destroyer Elath last Saturday and the subsequent Israeli shelling of oil refineries in Suez make it appear to be a demonstration of armed support for Egypt.

At about the same time, two Soviet submarines and a destroyer arrived in Alexandria.

Winter Weather Hits State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Winter-like temperatures tonight will force Arkansians to dig out the heavy coats as the mercury is expected to drop into the 20s in North Arkansas to near freezing elsewhere.

The U. S. Weather Bureau said frost is likely in most sections of the state.

With the rapid movement of the cold front through the state Thursday and today, not enough time was allowed for a return of Gulf moisture and only widely scattered showers and a few thundershowers occurred along the frontal system.

Pine Bluff recorded .05 of an inch and Little Rock .02.

Meanwhile, southerly winds brought increased cloudiness and warmer temperatures to Arkansas Thursday afternoon. The mercury hit 80 degrees at Texarkana and ranged downward to a high of 58 at Harrison. The overnight low was 32 at Gilbert.

Cong Women in Uniform Attack GIs

BEN CAT, Vietnam (AP) — Eight female Communist soldiers in full battle guard and armed with automatic weapons and hand grenades, attacked a U.S. infantry ambush patrol Wednesday and lost four of their number killed.

"They spotted our patrol first and fired on them," said Lt. Col. Walter E. Adams, from Washington, D.C., commander of the 25th Infantry Wolfhound Battalion.

"They fought well and they were damn good," Adams commented. The American unit report no casualties.

The four dead women soldiers, all young, were identified as belonging to the North Vietnamese 271st Regiment, part of the 9th North Vietnamese Division operating in the jungles of War Zone C, north of Saigon.

Edmond H. "Jitterbug" Pullum, 38, was arrested less than three hours after the shooting and charged in state and city warrants with felonious assault, assault and battery, discharging a pistol and unlawfully carrying a pistol. Officers said Mrs. Francis identified Pullum as her assailant.

He was being held in lieu of bond. In an appearance before City Judge Riley Graham this morning, Pullum requested that he be represented by Harold E. Brown, a local attorney who was part of the Hoffa legal team when the Teamsters Union president was tried and convicted here in 1964 for jury tampering.

"They're trying to kill me," officers quoted Mrs. Francis as saying after she approached them on a city street and told them she was shot.

Mrs. Francis was a government witness in the recent obstruction of justice trial of a prostitute charged with giving false information in an affidavit filed with Hoffa's third new trial motion.

In the trial of Patricia Ann Essex, who had alleged she had sexual relations with jurors during Hoffa's 1964 jury tampering trial, Mrs. Francis said she had seen Mrs. Essex sitting in an office holding more than $1,000 in $20 bills when she went in to notarize the affidavit.

Mrs. Francis said she was shot while in a car and walked to a point where she found officers directing traffic. Police said she did not elaborate on how she managed to elude her assailant.

Mrs. Francis was convicted Tuesday in another case of trying to kill her former husband. She was sentenced to 3-10 years in prison and was free on bond pending disposition of a new trial motion.

The government troops captured 73 weapons, including 17 machine guns and rocket launchers and three rarely seen enemy flamethrowers. South Vietnamese casualties officially were termed light, and unofficial reports from the battle area said 12 government soldiers were killed and 24 wounded.

The fighting broke off just before daylight.

Furtive Men Are U.S. Army Deserters Who Hide Away in Orient

SAIGON (AP) — A number of U.S. servicemen desert in Vietnam and try to live by dealing on the black market, pimping or occasionally by peddling marijuana, a U.S. military police source reported today.

The number of deserters at large runs from 40 to 50 at any given time, the source said, and their freedom lasts from a few days to several months.

The deserters are able to go underground most successfully in Cholon, Saigon's Chinese section. Those with luck make contact with black marketers who furnish them with counterfeit PX ration cards to make large purchases for resale on the flourishing Saigon black market.

Some of them also join up with prostitutes and live partly off their earnings, a source said. A few peddle marijuana to other GIs, but the drug is so easily available this isn't very lucrative trade.

American MPs and civilians checking identification cards at the various post exchanges are given photographs of service men absent without leave and most are caught this way, the police source said.

Once caught, the men are returned to their units and a trial by court-martial.

Some slip away from their units while awaiting trial on other charges. Many are marijuana users.

Most deserters serve their sentences in a stockade in Vietnam and then are sent back to their units to complete their one-year tours in the war zone. Sentences served in the stockade are considered "bad time" which doesn't count toward either the 12-month Vietnam service period or the time required for discharge.

The police source said no deserters are known to have escaped from Vietnam. This would require considerable money to get a fake passport and be smuggled out of the country.

3 Charges by Viet Cong Thrown Back

SAIGON (AP) — A South Vietnamese infantry battalion hurled back three suicidal charges by a North Vietnamese regiment today and reported 134 of the enemy killed in a jungle clearing 70 miles north of Saigon.

The action near Phuoc Binh, capital of Phuoc Long Province, was the biggest ground battle in a week dominated by intense U.S. air raids on North Vietnam.

The U.S. Command announced that three U.S. Navy jets were shot down in Thursday's raids and all three pilots were missing. This brought U.S. losses in the past three days to 10 planes and raised to 717 the total of U.S. combat planes officially reported lost over North Vietnam.

American pilots reported shooting down two more enemy MiGs during raids on Hanoi Thursday, bringing their score to 24 Communist jets reported destroyed or damaged in the air and on the ground this week.

The U.S. Command made no report on raids today, but Tass, the Soviet news agency, indicated that Hanoi was hit again. A Tass dispatch from the North Vietnamese capital said that "according to preliminary data," anti-aircraft units shot down six U.S. planes today "over Hanoi and its environs."

Hanoi's official Vietnam News Agency said one of "the many U.S. pilots captured" in Hanoi Thursday was Lt. Cmdr. John Sydney McCain, apparently the son of Vice Adm. John S. McCain Jr., the U.S. Navy commander in chief in Europe, and the grandson of one of the Navy's greatest carrier task force commanders in World War II. Adm. McCain said at his headquarters in London he had been notified his son was missing over North Vietnam.

Hanoi said McCain was hit in the leg when his Phantom jet was "blasted down by a ground-to-air missile before it could strike."

In the ground action north of Saigon, troops of the 88th North Vietnamese regiment attacked across minefields after midnight after laying down heavy mortar barrages on the South Vietnamese positions and a nearby refugee hamlet.

They were thrown back three times in five hours from the barbed wire perimeter around a battalion of South Vietnam's 5th Infantry Division.

The government troops captured 73 weapons, including 17 machine guns and rocket launchers and three rarely seen enemy flamethrowers. South Vietnamese casualties officially were termed light, and unofficial reports from the battle area said 12 government soldiers were killed and 24 wounded.

The fighting broke off just before daylight.

She Kills Bandit to Save Son

PITTSBURGH (AP) — You better get out or I'll shoot," Mrs. Frances Albrecht shouted at two young bandits holding a gun over her son. One of the men fired and she returned the fire, killing one youth and sending the other running, police said.

Mrs. Albrecht, 47, was grinding meat in the rear of her grocery store in the city's Garfield section Thursday when two young men entered and demanded money from her son minding the front counter, she told police.

One pulled a gun, she said, Mrs. Albrecht looked up, edged over to a cigar box where a gun had been hidden for 23 years and never used.

"You better get out or I'll shoot," police quoted her as saying. Her demand was answered by a shot from one of the bandit's pistol.

She fired, sending the gunman crashing to the floor with $40 from the cash register clutched in one hand and the pistol in another, officers said.

Killed by a single bullet in the head was Edward Miles, 18, Mrs. Albrecht's son, Michael, 16, who suffered a powder burn on the left wrist, called police and said, "My mother just shot a man. He tried to hold her up."

Patrolman Francis Murphy said, "She was standing there holding the gun. She gave it to me and set down."

What Mrs. Albrecht didn't know was that the robber's gun was a starter pistol holding blanks.

No charges were filed against her.

UN Move to End the War Gains Favor

By ROBERT GRAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Growing support for a resolution aimed at obtaining United Nations action on the Vietnam war is generating Capitol Hill speculation President Johnson might be receptive to the idea.

The resolution sponsored by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield has gained backing of 56 other senators—Democrats and Republicans, liberals and conservatives, war policy backers and opponents.

While the discreet language of the resolution would merely urge the President to consider directing U.S. representatives to the United Nations to seek action, its passage would be interpreted as an appeal to him to do so.

Approval would express the sense of the Senate and not be binding on the President. But one informed source said he doubted Mansfield would seek to put Johnson in a position of rejecting a suggestion for a possible step toward peace.

The opposite appears to be the case, the source said—that Mansfield expects the President would act on the resolution, with his hand strengthened by the strong support already indicated.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., one of the most outspoken critics of Johnson's Vietnam policies, advanced another reason why a resolution on U.N. action might be welcomed by the President. He said it "may be the best way of building bridges between Congress and the executive" on the Vietnam issue.

Morse said Thursday at a hearing of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that he had discussed the U.N. approach with Johnson and the President had shown intense interest.

Morse said, however, that Johnson made no commitment on his course if a resolution urging U.N. action were passed.

Morse has sponsored a more sweeping proposal that would request the President to seek an emergency meeting of the U.N. Security Council and agree beforehand to obey any directives it issued, including a halt to the bombing of North Vietnam.

But the Oregon senator has said he would accept the Mansfield approach, which carries no preconditions.
